

Transgender Health Equity Symposium

BECOME OUR CHAMPION!

DONATE TO SUPPORT

The Psychology Department within Salisbury University's Fulton School of Liberal Arts is deeply committed to improving the well-being of our community. Our annual Transgender Health Equity Symposium better-equips current and emerging health professionals to address regional mental and behavioral health needs.

By supporting the Trans Health Equity Symposium, you are not only investing in the next generation of health professionals – you also are helping to create lasting, positive change in our community. Your partnership reinforces a shared commitment to health equity, educational access and compassionate service.

In gratitude for your generosity, we have created meaningful recognition levels designed to elevate your visibility while aligning your organization with a mission that matters.
